

SUPERVISION AND CONTROL SYSTEMS USED IN THE MANAGEMENT OF FACILITIES

Constantin PRISTAVU¹

Rezumat. Securitatea este singurul concept care poate îndeplini cerințele de siguranță și stabilitate necesare bunei funcționări a sistemelor în condițiile actuale. Ca proces emergent, securitatea are ca obiectiv principal stabilitatea sistemelor. Practic, noțiunea de securitate poate fi asociată cu ideea de „fără pericol”, chiar dacă pericolul în sine există, dar nu poate acționa împotriva sistemului protejat, iar noțiunea opusă de insecuritate poate fi asociată cu ideea de „prezență”. În aceste condiții, fără îndeplinirea tuturor condițiilor de siguranță, poate acționa asupra sistemului, punându-i în pericol securitatea.

Abstract. Security is the only concept that can meet the requirements of security and stability necessary for the proper functioning of systems in the current conditions. As an emerging process, security has as its main objective the stability of systems. Basically, the notion of security can be associated with the idea of "no danger", even if the danger itself exists, but it cannot act against the protected system, and the opposite notion of insecurity can be associated with the idea of "presence". Under these conditions, it can act on the system, endangering its security.

1. Introduction

Here It is becoming increasingly clear that in our century security is becoming the pillar on which economic development and, indirectly, the well-being of the population is based. The range in which the issue of human safety needs to be addressed requires new approaches, new concepts and tools for both decision-making and action. If during the Cold War security was the main concern of the army, today it has become a consumer product that generates its own market, with specific procedures and quality standards.

According to the study, security services are traditionally requested by companies or private institutions that require security services. On the other hand, appealing to these types of companies is a consequence of public distrust of the authorities, especially the police and the judiciary, coupled with the general feeling that, in the event of events, the system can be manipulated if you know how to invest funds. resources and have adequate connections. In such an environment, the use of deterrents (security agents) is often perceived as a more effective way of
